Biography

John W. Boscariol is head of McCarthy Tétrault's International Trade & Investment Law Group and a partner in the Litigation Group. He specializes in compliance, enforcement and disputes regarding anti-corruption law and policy, including matters arising under Canada's Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act and its interaction with other anti-bribery regimes, as well as trade and technology transfer controls, economic sanctions and other foreign investment and trade matters. His practice includes a specific focus on compliance and enforcement issues for financial institutions, including designing and implementing policies, training management, employees and board members, risk assessment on commercial transactions (including projects, mergers, acquisitions, financings and joint ventures), retaining and monitoring agents, internal investigations, and dealings with enforcement authorities. Martindale-Hubbell rates John as "AV Preeminent", their "highest level of professional excellence" and Chambers Global ranks him in Band 1 for WTO/International Trade. He also speaks and publishes extensively on international trade and investment law topics.
