Eugenia (Evie) Bouras is counsel in our leading Business Law Group, based in Toronto. Her practice is focused on providing practical, skilled, and timely advice on gaming, advertising, and marketing issues and regulated consumer products.

Evie's practice is tailored to supporting clients at every stage, from product development, licensing to marketing campaigns. She regularly acts for a wide range of companies that provide gaming services, food, alcohol, cosmetics, electronics, cannabis, natural health products, toys, and radio spectrum products.

She provides strategic advice on advertising issues such as claim review and substantiation, contests/sweepstakes, sponsorship, influencer agreements, competitor challenges, charitable promotions, and loyalty programs. She also helps clients navigate the complex regulatory framework related to packaging and labelling, licencing and registrations, regulatory investigations or challenges, and compliance with technical standards. Evie also advises on e-commerce platforms, website terms of use, consumer protection issues, privacy, and anti-spam (CASL).

Evie is fluent in English, French, Greek and Portuguese. She was called to the bar in both Ontario and Quebec in 2015. Evie received her LL.L in civil law and J.D in common law from the University of Ottawa.
