Erika Blackburn-Verreault is an associate in our Litigation Group in Quebec City. Her practice not only focuses on professional and medical liability, but also on civil and commercial litigation. She is a member of the Canadian Bar Association as well as the Jeune Barreau du Québec.

With a particular interest in access to justice matters, Erika is involved in collaborative research projects linked to the prevention and the settlement of disputes.

Prior to becoming an associate at the firm, Erika Blackburn-Verreault worked for two years for a corporate law firm in Quebec and completed an internship with two judges of the Superior Court of Québec. She also represented students of the École du Barreau du Centre de Québec during her tenure as the president of the Association des jeunes juristes de Québec (A.J.J.Q.)

Erika Blackburn-Verreault earned a Bachelor of Administration (B.A.A., 2019) and an undergraduate law degree (LL.B, 2020) from Université Laval.
