Real Property

Donna Dulaba is a senior paralegal with our Real Property and Planning Group in the Vancouver office. With a solid foundation of over 35 years in the legal field, Donna offers a wealth of experience to her role, with a particular focus on commercial real estate matters.

She supports our clients by facilitating the preparation of essential documents for commercial real estate transactions, including acquisitions, land assembly and disposition, development, and asset purchases. Donna's responsibilities also include assisting our firm's lawyers and clients with title reviews, generating title reports, and handling the preparation and electronic registration of various land title documents and survey plans.

In addition to her work with clients, Donna contributes to the professional development of junior paralegals in the group, sharing her knowledge and experience to help them advance in their careers.

Donna's extensive background encompasses both residential and commercial real estate transactions. She has been a valuable member of major law firms as a paraprofessional, dedicating 27 years of her impressive career to McCarthy Tétrault, where she continues to be a reliable and respected member of our team.
