
Saleha Hasham is a U.S. immigration law clerk with our Immigration Law Division, based in Toronto. Her work is focused exclusively on immigration law, primarily employment immigration where she supports businesses in the strategic movement and transfer of their human capital including professional, managerial, and executive personnel, across borders. Saleha assists with U.S. cross border travel, non-immigrant petitions and visas, immigrant petitions and visas, applications for U.S. permanent residency, and consular processing.

Saleha comes from a background of high-volume U.S. business immigration experience as it relates to employment-based immigration.
