Université de Montréal

Liam is currently pursuing his bachelor's degree in law at Université de Montréal and expects to graduate in 2025. He will article at McCarthy Tétrault's Montréal office in 2026.

Before starting his bachelor's degree and law school, Liam spent a year at Loyola University Maryland, having been recruited to join their NCAA Division I tennis team. He is now continuing his studies in law as a member of the Université de Montréal Carabins tennis team. In the summer 2023, his team won the national championship. Liam also received distinctions for his academic grades. His sporting and academic results earned him an excellence scholarship for the 2023-2024 school year.

Alongside his studies, Liam is also involved in many activities at his law faculty. Liam represented his school by participating in the Donald G.H. Bowman national tax law moot court competition. Next year, he will take care of this competition within the faculty as Vice President of Practical Activities within the Tax Law Committee.

In his free time, Liam enjoys playing sports with friends, such as golf, tennis and soccer.
