A highly regarded transactional lawyer, Cathy provides clients with creative and practical solutions on their most sophisticated projects to efficiently close deals.

Catherine (Cathy) Samuel is a partner in the Business Law Group and Technology Group in Calgary and co-leads the national Procurement Group. With over 20 years' experience, Cathy's practice focuses on complex M&A and commercial transactions, acting for early stage and mid-market companies as well as large Canadian and international clients in the energy, telecommunications, technology, retail, cannabis, financial services and healthcare industries.

As a trusted advisor for public and private companies, Cathy is experienced across an array of M&A and commercial transactions, including cross-border matters, strategic projects, general corporate matters, procurement, private equity and outsourcing. Cathy has acted for clients in large multi-jurisdiction transactions and has worked on numerous Canadian market-entry deals.

Cathy is an excellent resource in business law and works tirelessly to provide prompt advice.

— CLIENT TESTIMONIAL, CHAMBERS CANADA

Clients appreciate Cathy's commitment to their business objectives and her fierce negotiating skills. She is a highly personable client advocate, acting as a sounding board for her clients through the entire transaction process. From emerging companies to large publicly-traded issuers, Cathy takes time to understand her client's business needs and provides strategic counsel to get the deal done.
