Gabriella is a JD student at the Peter A. Allard School of Law at the University of British Columbia. Prior to attending law school, Gabriella received a Bachelor of Commerce from the Smith School of Business at Queen's University. During her undergraduate degree, she participated in an exchange at Bocconi University.

At law school, Gabriella had the opportunity to explore her interest in litigation by participating in the Wilson Moot, where her team tied for third place. She serves as Editor-in-Chief for the UBC Law Review. Gabriella also volunteers as a peer tutor and worked as a research assistant to develop an open-access, tort law resource targeted towards first-year law students. Following graduation, Gabriella will be clerking at the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Outside of school, Gabriella enjoys reading, trying new restaurants with friends, and cooking.
